LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS

Somewhere in France Sept. 7, 1918.

Dear Mother and all—

Just a line to let you know I am still around. Hope you are all well I would have written sooner but my right arm has been so sore that it was impossible to write. I tried to write several times but couldn't use it so I decided to wait awhile.

I suppose some one has told you that I am in the Base Hospital. I was badly burned with mustard gas on the night of the 19 of August, was sent to the hospital on 20th and am getting along fine.

Now don't worry about me. I may be out and around by the time you get this letter. I haven't got any mail since I am here but think they will soon send my mail for there is surely lot for me at the Co. Well they sure do treat us fine here. The nurses are so nice and kind. And think they can't do enough for us boys.

At the place they loaded us wounded ones on the R. R. train, the Red Cross just loaded us down with good things to eat and plenty of tobacco to smoke and chew. The money you people give to the Red Cross at home is well spent and I am sure we get every cent of it.

Must rest awhile.

Sept. 11, 1918.

I am feeling good. My burns are much better. I am in hopes I will be out of here in a week or so. I want to write to Ray today if possible. I owe several letters but my right arm has been on the bum. I can scarcely write so he will have to excuse me. Gee, I would like to be in the States now enjoying some good fruit. We can't get apples here. I bought a couple of peaches the other day and paid 20c each for them. On the French people are getting wise to us Americans. The people always will charge a soldier about 2 or 3 prices.

How is Miriam? And did they take her away for treatment? I hope I soon get some mail from you. Don't get discouraged. Just keep on writing I will get it sometime.

Sept. 13, 1918.

I am getting along fine. My burns are some better, but are very slow to heal. Think I will soon be out of here. No letters as yet. How is Grace getting along? And Lillian is she still at the Springs. I forget when they close. Who is teaching the Hartley School this winter? I hope Rush will be able to go every day. Oh, say did Sewell or Joe write you that I was in the hospital? I was afraid you would worry yourself sick until you heard from me. Will write more soon.

As ever your son,

Marshall F. Amick

We have spent over $10,000,000 just for staple supplies for our army such as flour, bacon, rice, etc.

La Courtine

Sept 8, 1918, Creuse

Dear Mother:-

I will now try and answer your kind and welcome letter I received a few days ago. Was real glad to hear from home and find you all well. Well I am still in good health and gaining as fast as I have been in the past three months you will have to move the table out from the wall or I won't be able to get behind it. Ha! Well it is 10:30 A. M. here and I don't suppose you are up yet. There is about 5 hours and 30 minutes difference in the time here and back home. The time starts at 1 A. M. and goes around to 24 P. M. Some time ago a fellow said he would meet me at 19 o'clock at a certain place and I surely had one H--- of a time to get that hour in my head but I finally got straightened out and got there just the same. Well Mother we have the finest alarm clock here I ever have had any experience with, it rings 3 times every morning at five o'clock and it surely does do the wakening act. It is a cannon just out side of where we sleep. None of us knew any thing about it the first night we were here and there surely was some jumping done. I know I was on my feet. And if blood is any other color than red one fellow that sleeps next to me was wounded bad. Ha! Ha! him now. Well, France is a very pretty country what I have seen of it, but the villages are all very old fashion. They have high walls instead of yard fences. And the people live in one end of the house and the cows and chickens in the other end. They have very few horses or wagons. They use mostly oxen and little mules (or burrows as some call them)

hitched to a cart. There I only one thing about the little mules that are the same size as the mules of the states and that is the ears. Ha. It surely does look funny to see a little mule that an ordinary man could stand over and have both feet on the ground hitched to a big cart. The other day we saw a load of straw coming up the road but couldn't see what was pulling it until it got up to us then we saw a pair of ears sticking out through the straw. And of course we knew what it was. Well there is one boy in the Battery that used to live in Bedford. His name is Earl Tet well. I think he said his father used to be Stewart at the County Home. (He is from Cumberland then). Ed. There is surely lots of black berries here. The French people don't use them at all and they laugh at us for eating them. I never see a bunch of them, but what I think of the song. In berry picking time, I wish I was at home today to hear some songs but I hope it won't be long before I get back again. I had a letter from Marshall a few days ago and he was O. K. I also met an old Railroad friend that I worked with in Youngstown Ohio. And we surely were glad to see one another and talk of some of our old times we had riding box cars off the hump. Well as it is about time to fall in for mess. I will close for this time. Excuse poor writing and mistakes for I am using the back of my mess pan to write on. Hope you are all well and enjoying good health I am well and happy as usual. Write often. Best wishes to all. I remain as ever your Buck Private son.

Letter from William McKinley to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKinley, of Bedford.

Somewhere in France

August 30, 1918.

Dear Mother:-

I received your letter some time ago and was surely glad to hear from you. Would have wrote to you before but did not get the opportunity. I have seen Paris since I wrote to you the last time. It sure is a beautiful place. I received a letter from Mae on the hill. That was very nice of her to write me a line. Never heard from Betha yet. When I get back there is going to be some hairpulling I suppose she did not receive my address. I was just up to the kitchen we are having a good vegetable stew, beef, fresh tomatoes, carrots, beans, beef, fresh tomatoes, carrots, beans stew. I have been real well have a little cold at the present. Where we are located now we have a dandy stream we can take a swim, good place to do washing.

I suppose Walter is eating the good things this summer. I thought sure I would receive a letter from him yesterday. Well I suppose I have told you all for this time. I will write Dal a few lines hoping this finds you all well. My best to everybody.

Lovingly, William.

Dear Dad:-

I have been thinking of writing you a few lines, hardly know what to write as I think you read the letters I write to Mother. Where I am at the present time there is a run about the size of Shovers run, there is some trout. I saw a French man with a half dozen nice ones. It has been in the light of the moon or I would have tried the eels as I think there is some here. We see quite a few deer on our travels. I have been in the trenches. Didn't loose a man in my company. I suppose you heard about Little Dan he went over the top one night on a scouting party he was wounded in the side and shell shocked. He went to the hospital but I expect him back soon. I suppose you read the paper and see we are victorious. I have seen some beautiful scenery. Has Brudder bought a dog yet? I often wondered about Uncle Harry Hall when he said he was at home, when he was sleeping in a straw pile. But say there is nothing like it. Well I guess I have told you all I can think of at the present. Hoping this finds you all well.

Your son,

William.

Camp Dix, N. J.

Sept. 29, 1918.

Mr. V. E. P. Barkman:-

As we have Sunday afternoon off will write you a few lines. We are out in the woods to ourselves this afternoon. Just to get out in the country for a bit to enjoy ourselves. We are writing letter and smoking also eating some of those Bedford County sweets. We like camp life fine. There are a fine bunch of boys here. That terrible disease is spreading fast down here. But the most of us feel the best. Fred Bailer is in the Base Hospital, but his case is not serious at all. Huck Howard is feeding the sick and the balance of us are drilling.

We limited service men get the game drilling as the regular men get. We are all gaining in weight. I've gained about ten pounds since I landed in camp Dix. We sleep in the open and sleep as warm as toasts. Have good beds. Uncle Sam sure does treat his men good.

None of the boys have gotten home sick. The Y. M. C. A. sure puts pep in a soldier life. The camp is in quarantine now, but we must not let that discourage us. As it won't last for ever. The nights are real cool down here. But in daytime it is grand. Will try to do better next time.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS COMING TO BEDFORD.

On next Sunday the people of Bedford will have an opportunity to hear two men who probably have never been heard here under similar circumstances. At the Rally Day Harvest Home service to be rendered in St. John's Reformed Church beginning at ten o'clock. The address of honor will be delivered by the Hon. Bailey president judge of the Bedford County Courts. There will be special music and a fine program throughout, but all are looking forward with special interest to the address to be delivered by Judge Bailey. For the service at 7:30 P. M. the Rev. Rufus W. Miller of Philadelphia has been secured. This is a matter of mere good fortune as Dr. Miller is in such demand that it is necessary to engage him a year in advance in order to secure his services. It is anticipated that not one member of St. John's congregation or Sunday School will want to be absent on that day and they are not going to be selfish in their good fortune, they cordially invite their friends to share it with them.

THE LIBERTY LOAN FEEDS AND CLOTHES OUR SOLDIERS.

Since the beginning of the war, we have spent for army use $37,000,000 for flour; 14,000,000 for sugar; $43,000,000 for bacon; $12,000,000 for beans; $9,000,000 for canned tomatoes, and $3,000,000 for rice. These are only some of the large items in our Army's bill of fare. We have spent $126,000,000 for shoes; over $500,000,000 for clothing, winter and summer; nearly $150,000,000 for blankets.

Our axes for the army have cost over $6,000,000; our rolling kitchens $47,000,000 and field ranges $1,500,000. The army is using 2,500,000 shovels costing $1 a piece. Our motor trucks to carry supplies and ammunition cost $240,000,000 and for horse drawn wagons and carts we have spent $37,000,000. Our 273,000 horses and 132,000 mules have cost nearly $60,000,000 and the harness for them nearly $30,000,000.

These figures are large, but we have nearly 2,000,000 men in France and nearly as many in cantonments here, and the United States and the people of the United States through the Liberty Loan are making these soldiers as safe and as comfortable, as powerful and effective as possible.

THE NEW BUTTONS

Rules Governing Their Distribution Should Be Strictly Observed

As a Liberty Loan button is a badge of honor signifying not only that its owner has purchased at least one bond, but is proud of having thus underwritten Uncle Sam. It is important that this emblem shall not be cheapened by passing it out indiscriminately. Therefore, the following rules will govern the distribution of buttons in the city of Philadelphia: The wearing of the button proves that the owner has made at least the first payment for his bonds.

If therefore receives it where he makes that payment and when he makes that payment.

Solicitors are not permitted to take cash. Any solicitor who asks you for cash and gives you a button is not authorized to do so, and should be reported at once to Liberty Loan Headquarters.

Therefore, there are only two places in Philadelphia where you can get a Liberty Bond Button.

First—At a bank (including trust company, etc.)

Second—At the industrial plant where you work, if the payment is deducted from your wages.

Get your button now. Wear it throughout the campaign.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED BY VOTE 54-30.

Despite President Wilson's Plea in Favor of the Susan B. Anthony Amendment, the Senate Fails to Pass Bill—Friends of the Amendment Claim the Defeat is Only Temporary.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Senate today refused to grant the request of the president that the woman suffrage resolution be passed as a war measure.

After five days of bitter debate, negotiations, the Susan B. Anthony Federal amendment resolution enacted by the House last January received on the final roll call two votes less than the necessary two-thirds majority.

Before the vote was announced Senator Jones, of New Mexico, chairman of the women's suffrage committee, to comply with parliamentary requirements, changed his vote from the affirmative to the negative and moved that the Senate reconsider. This made the final official record 53 to 31, and left the resolution technically pending on the Senate calendar, in position for further consideration planned after the November elections, when suffrage forces hope to muster the requisite number of votes.

"Fix my teeth well, Davis, so I can bite. There are lots of people I would like to bite."

Thus spoke the German emperor, in a playful mood, to his American dentist, Dr. Arthur N. Davis.

And the Kaiser spoke plainly of some of those whom he "would like to bite." He spoke insultingly of President Wilson and other prominent Americans who have dared to oppose him.

Dr. Davis has told it all in the startling articles that are to appear in this paper.

CHAPTER VII.

The Japanese.

According to the talk of the German diplomats before the war the expectation was that Japan's power would be used against America at the first opportunity. Whether the object of this campaign was to stir up trouble between Japan and America or only to awaken this country to a sense of the danger which the Germans professed to believe threatened her I don't know. I do know, however, that prospect of a Japanese-American war seemed to worry the Germans considerably more than it worries us.

The day England declared war against Germany, August 5, 1914, the Prince von Pless called to see me professionally.

"There will be two wars fought," he said, oracularly. "The present one, by which we shall gain control of the continent of Europe forever, and then a war with the yellow races, in which we shall probably have your country to assist us!"

That this opinion was more or less general in Germany may account for the fact that from the time war was declared until August 28, 1914, when Japan declared war against Germany, the Japanese residents in Berlin were made the subject of the most sickening attentions. It was reported that Japan was going to attack Russia, and the Germans could not do enough to show their newly born admiration for the yellow race which they had hitherto so deeply despised. The Japs were carried through the streets on the shoulders of the populace and kissed and cheered wherever they appeared in public.

And then Japan declared war against Germany! Instantly there was a wild demonstration in the streets of Berlin, which would have resulted most disastrously for the Japs who had so recently been hailed as friends but for the astonishing fact that every single Jap had succeeded in getting away from Berlin before the news of Japan's entry into the war became generally known.

In the absence of Japanese upon which to vent their spleen, the Germans did everything they could to make life miserable for those who resembled Japs. The few Chinese who were there were terribly treated either because they were taken for Japs or because they were of the same race. The Siamese minister, Prince Traidos, who was one of my patients, told me that when his wife and children went out on the streets the crowds followed them and jeered, referring to the Japanese as monkeys and using other opprobrious epithets. They even went so far as to spit in Princess Traidos' face, and the minister finally decided to send her and the children to Switzerland, although he himself remained at his post.

I saw the Kaiser shortly after the Japanese declaration of war, and he was very bitter against the United States because of that development.

"What is your president thinking of to allow a yellow race to attack a white race! Now the Japanese are attacking Kiao-Chau, and America could have prevented it. All that America had to do was to raise a finger and Japan would have known enough to keep her place!"

He spoke in this strain on several subsequent occasions.

When Kiao-Chau fell he again criticized the United States for not having stopped Japan.

"How can your president allow Japan to increase in power at the expense of a white race?" he asked, indignantly. "Now China is lost to the world forever. America is the one power that could have prevented it, but now Japan has got her fingers on China and she is lost to us forever!"

After we were in the war, the Kaiser expressed to me his opinion that our object in taking this step was fourfold:

"First," he said, "Wilson wants to save the money you have loaned to the allies. Second, he wants to have a seat at the peace table. Third, he wants to give your army and navy a little practical experience—unfortunately, at our expense. And fourth, and principally, he wants to prepare for the war with Japan which he knows is inevitable. The Japanese are the ones which your country must look upon as its real enemies."

A German officer of high standing told me just before I left Berlin that America had made the great mistake of sending ammunition, guns and supplies to Russia, via Japan, because Japan had just retained the finely made American articles and had dumped on Russia a lot of good-for-nothing material of her own in their place. "My advice to America," he declared, "is to cut the throat of every Japanese in America and get rid of the internal danger." He did not suggest cutting the throats of all the undesirable Germans who were in America and who had already demonstrated that they were far more dangerous than the Japanese had ever been.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Kaiser's Confidence of Victory.

About twelve years ago I attended the German military maneuvers at Liegnitz, in Silesia, having been invited by some journalistic friends of mine to accompany them in the motor allowed the press. The military representatives of England, France, America and other countries were there with the Kaiser's staff to witness the display of Germany's military power. Apparently they were very much impressed, for I heard afterwards that one of the French officers who had been present had written a book in which he said: "With such an army, Germany could annex France in six months!"

I happened to mention this fact to the Kaiser shortly afterwards and his significant comment was:

"Six months! I should hope so. It wouldn't take that long!"

The confident belief that when "Der Tag"—"the day"—finally arrived, Germany would crush her enemies and accomplish her object within a few months at the outside was held not only by the Kaiser but by the people generally and their conduct when the war broke out clearly disclosed it.

When Germany's man power was mobilized, no one in Germany believed it would be very long before they would all be back and every effort was made to make their few weeks of active service as little irksome as possible. "Liebesgaben," gifts of love, consisting of clothing and food of every description, were forwarded to them by their relatives and friends in the most lavish manner, although, of course, at that time the German commissary was able to satisfy all the soldiers' requirements.

One of my patients told me that she had sent seventeen hundred pounds of sausages to one regiment within a week, and when I asked her why she had been so generous she replied that her chauffeur was a member of the regiment!

The extent to which the country's resources were squandered in those early months is evidenced by the fact that the soldiers had such an excess of ill-fitting woolen wearing apparel that they used many of the knitted articles as earpieces and covers for their horses. No one had the slightest idea that the time might come when the whole nation would be clothed in paper!

At this late day it can hardly be necessary to establish how thoroughly prepared the Germans were for the war, but an incident which occurred in the early days of the conflict may not be out of place to show the self-satisfied and confident attitude which all the Germans assumed.

Two officers sitting at a table in an out-of-door cafe shortly after the war began overheard one of several ladies who were passing remark: "Look at those officers sitting there drinking. Why are they not at the front fighting?" One of the officers got up and, approaching the ladies, said: "Our work was completed months ago. We worked from early morning till late at night on plans which our armies are now carrying out. It is our time to rest."

The resistance that France would be able to put up was always very lightly estimated, and if the intervention of England was at all taken into consideration, the comparatively small army she could place in the field was regarded as but a drop in the bucket compared with the well-trained German horde that was ready to sweep across the border. How could England's 80,000 men cope with Von Kluck's 500,000 or the hastily mobilized French armies resist the thoroughly prepared, equipped and well-disciplined German warriors?

It is really not to be wondered at that the Germans firmly believed that they would bring the allies to their knees within a comparatively few weeks and that the conquering German armies would celebrate Sedan day, September 2, in Paris. What account for America's growing power!"

The French army, too, was generally belittled and the Russians were believed to be absolutely negligible. The French army was so poorly equipped, it was pointed out, that the officers had to go to the field in patent-leather boots, and on the Russian front, only the first-line men had guns, the others being armed with clubs!

Eventually, officers and soldiers returning from the western front on furlough or passing through the country en route from one front to the other brought the report of the defeat before Paris. Soldiers who participated in that disastrous retreat wrote from the new trenches to their friends and relatives telling of the terrible experiences they had undergone, when they went for days with nothing to eat but raw potatoes and turnips which they picked from the fields.

When these reports finally spread through Germany the people began to realize that their generals in the west were not meeting with the same success that Von Hindenburg had had in the east and Von Hindenburg became the idol of the people immediately, a fact that was very distasteful to the high command.

The Kaiser's dislike of Von Hindenburg was of long standing. He had never forgiven that general for the mistake he made during military maneuvers in peace time when by a brilliant stroke of strategy he had succeeded in capturing the Kaiser's forces, including the Kaiser and his whole staff!

I have referred in a previous chapter to the Kaiser's unbounded confidence after the Italian collapse in 1917. "Now, we've got the allies!" he exclaimed, with an air of conclusiveness which emphasized the optimism he displayed.

After the capture of Roumania, he exhibited a similar degree of exultation. He believed that in that achievement he had successfully solved the food problem—the one cloud which constantly darkened the Kaiser's horizon.

"Now the allies will never succeed in starving us," he said to me in my office shortly after the Roumanian drive. "With Roumania in our pockets and Serbia already ours, their wonderful agricultural possibilities will supply our food needs and foil our enemies' efforts to starve us. Indeed, they had better look out for themselves. Don't forget we have a monopoly on the potash mines of the world. Without proper fertilization, American crops will go on decreasing and decreasing and they won't get any potash until we get ready to let them have it!"

The failure of the Zeppelins from a military standpoint was undoubtedly a great disappointment to the German people at large, who had counted so much upon them to bring disaster to England, but it cannot be said that the Kaiser shared their chagrin. On the contrary, I have reason to believe that he never expected very much from that arm of his military force except as it might be useful to terrorize the civil population.

A day or two after Zeppelin's death, in 1917, a patient of mine, a lady, happened to remark that it was too bad that the count had not lived to see the triumph of his invention, and when I saw the Kaiser shortly afterwards I repeated her remark to see what he would say.

"I am convinced that the count lived long enough to see all that the Zeppelins were capable of accomplishing," was his only comment. It recalled the answer he had given me some years before when both Zeppelins and airplanes were in their infancy and I had asked him which held the greater promise. "We do not know. Time alone will tell," was his reply.

The last time I conversed with the Kaiser was on November 26, 1917. Up to that time we had sent over 169,000 troops, according to the figures which have since been revealed by Secretary Baker. According to the Kaiser's information, however, we had only 30,000 men in France at that time and he was of the opinion that we would never have many more.

It is known here to require recital, but I know that the Germans were kept in absolute ignorance of the marvelous resistance the allies were able to put up in those critical days of August and September, 1914, and to this day the majority of Germans have not heard of the battle of the Marne!

Just after the English passed their conscription law I was called to see the Kaiser at the great army headquarters, which at that time were at Pless. Although the war had then lasted two or three times as long as the Germans had expected, the Kaiser masked the depression he must have felt by putting on a bold front.

"How foolish for England to start conscription now," he declared. "She thinks she can accomplish in a few months what it has taken Germany a hundred years to attain. Armies and officers cannot be developed over night. We have never stopped preparing since the days of Frederick the Great!"

"Yes, your majesty, but the Northern states in our Civil war put in conscription two years after the beginning of the war," I suggested.

"But just look how long your war lasted," the Kaiser replied quickly. "This war won't last that long. The allies will feel what the power of Germany is long before English conscription can avail them anything!"

"And while England is slowly building up her insignificant army," the Kaiser went on, "she will see America's navy and merchant marine constantly growing and the dollar replacing the pound as the unit of the world's finance. No, Davis, the allies will soon be sick of the war!"

The Invincible Union—Fighting Dollars and Fighting Men.

They're in to Win

Fair targets, every one of these men, for the German riflemen and machine gunners hidden behind the parapet.

But they are not thinking of the bullets whizzing past them; of the shells bursting over their heads.

They are intent on one thing—to scale that bank, take the bridge head and win the day.

And these men are made of the same stuff as all true Americans who read these words.

If we are the same stuff, let us prove it. Let us get into the fight as they do—to the limit—for Victory!

The Boy From Next Door

YOU used to see him swing gaily down the street, radiant with the vigor of his sturdy young manhood. One day he came home in khaki; then his father told you, with mingled pride and foreboding, that he had "gone across" with his regiment.

Yesterday his name was on the casualty list—"slightly wounded"—and your face grew grave as you thought of the sorrow and suspense of his father and mother.

From every city street, every village, every community, the boy next door has gone to war.

Think of these thousands of splendid young Americans, reared in comfort, peace, and security, now suddenly plunged into that roaring inferno of battle with the hardened hordes of a desperately determined foe.

What are you doing to help them?

What are you doing to arm and protect them, and bring them home in safety? Have you bought Liberty Bonds? Have you bought all you possibly can?

Has it occurred to you that one more Bond, bought with a little additional effort, may save the life of the boy from the next boor?

Dollars that Fight

By SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE

The war will be won by men and ships, by guns and airplanes. To raise armies and supply them, to build the navy and support it, and to furnish ships and transport, we must have money in large amounts. The expenditures of the Government for the ensuing year are estimated at $24,000,000,000, a sum which baffles the imagination to conceive. That vast amount must come one-third from taxes and two-thirds from loans. The success of the Fourth Loan, like those that preceded it is, therefore, absolutely necessary. We must work with the highest speed, as if the war was to end in six months. We must prepare in every direction, as if it was to last for years. Speed and preparation are both expensive.

Without the Loans We Cannot Have Either

We are fighting to secure a just, righteous and lasting peace. For a complete peace we must have a complete victory. It must not be a peace of bargain or negotiation. No peace which satisfies Germany can ever satisfy us. No peace that leaves Germany in a position to renew the war against us will be worth having. It will be far from sufficient to gain all our objects on the Western front—Belgium, Alsace-Lorraine, Italia Irredenta. The President with wisdom and foresight and great force expressed his determination to redeem Russia. Russia must not be left in Germany's hands. That would mean another war. Poland must be free. Slav republics must be established to bar the way between Germany and the East. Serbia and Roumania must be redeemed. All these things are essential. Nothing will bring them but complete victory and a peace dictated by us and our allies. It is a conflict of ideas. It is the principle of evil arrayed against the principle of good. It is the battle of freedom and civilization against barbarism and tyranny. We must win and we shall win.

We Cannot Win Without Money, and, Therefore, These Loans Are Vital, and the Country Should Rally in All Its Strength and Subscribe and Oversubscribe the Fourth Loan

Entered as Second-Class Matter, October 1, 1918, at Bedford, Pa., under No. 100,000.

The War Industries Board has written the Pennsylvania Council of National Defense and Committee of Public Safety as follows:

It is unnecessary to remind you, and through you all the people of the respective states, that this and my business—is War, and all other consideration must be subordinated to the paramount purpose of winning the war.

Anything that interferes with this purpose impairs the efficiency of the war machine, and to the extent of such impairment tends to prolong the war. No loyal American can with patience contemplate giving to our military authorities less than ALL of the requirements to enable them in the shortest time possible to mobilize and bring to bear against the enemy the consecrated force of splendidly equipped armies. This can only be accomplished through the strictest economies in war materials, labor, fuel, and transportation. Among other economies which the government has been compelled to inaugurate is the deferring of all construction of a non war character save such as in the public interest cannot be deferred, in order that labor and material needed in war work may be released, and fuel and transportation conserved.

Building projects not contributing to the winning of the war should be curtailed, for the labor required for such construction is urgently needed elsewhere in war work, and in many cases the demand is imperative that the fuel required in producing such building materials, and the transportation service to deliver them, should be conserved.

We are depending upon you to secure the cooperation of architects, contractors, builders, municipalities and all others interested in building projects, to meet the issue in a patriotic way, and defer until after the war all building operations not these non war building projects in elude moving picture and other theatres, garages, hotels, clubs, churches, schools, hospitals, factories, warehouses, city improvements, farm buildings, silos, drainage, sewerage, buildings, etc.

The Council and Committee will soon appoint a Director for Bedford County. All persons must apply to this director for a permit before he meets with his approval it will be sent by him to the State Director, and by him to the War Industries Board for approval.

Don't Break From Your Good Pasture

Every community affords a commercial pasture in which can be found something to fill every want. But despite this there are those who seek to break down the barrier enclosing this avenue to prosperity and to wander into fields of deception. When the barrier is broken down into these deceiving fields, the dollars that justifiably belong within the pasture, that should be kept there to make it a more productive field of business, are permitted to escape forever. Once sent without that field they are never given opportunity to re-enter and are gone forever, thus depriving the community of a part of its earnings.

The home merchant is the pasture from which every citizen should fill his wants; those who choose to break through the barrier into the field of catalogue deception are the losers first and the community next.

MORAL:—Never rush from green pasture into the barren field.

Now is the time for every one to be economical. Spend your money with THESE MERCHANTS. Their interests are yours.

The Princes of Germany are Shaking Dice for the United States

By HERBERT QUICK

WE MUST buy bonds to the last cent of our ability, because our country is fighting for its very life. Make no mistake, citizens of America, the crisis is just that—we are fighting for our very life.

We must fight this war through. We must fight it through to a peace the basis of which will be written by us and our allies.

Germany must not write a single clause in the Treaty. She must be whipped until she will sign a treaty every word of which will be drawn by the Allies. Germany must not be allowed to dot an i or cross a t.

Why ?

Because Germany has become nothing but a robber empire, a murderer empire, an empire every purpose of which is the enslavement of the rest of the world. Such purposes admit of no compromise. We must conquer or die. If we do not conquer we shall, nevertheless, die—and die slaves.

Germany began with the intention of robbing France of her iron, her coal, her best land and her great factories; of making Belgium with her rich mines, great cities and immense factories a part of Germany; of gaining the Belgian coast, from which she might conquer England, and of combining under her flag the hordes of Mohammedan Turks, and all the Balkan States, so that she might train soldiers in countless millions, build navies to sweep the oceans, and conquer the world.

This war was to be a step toward world conquest.

If we do not fight the war through to complete victory she will still keep on and she will succeed. She will surely succeed!

Russia with her nearly 200,000,000 people lies prostrate at Germany's feet. Germany could now give up the Balkan States, give up Belgium, force Austria to yield up the Italian territories, give up conquered France, yes, she could give up these, and even Alsace-Lorraine, and if allowed a free hand in Russia, she would still have won a victory greater than any of which she ever dreamed at the beginning of the war.

Give her control of Russia and she can, and will, within a few years come back with power to take back Alsace-Lorraine, crush poor Belgium once more and destroy exhausted France, sweep every vestige of resistance from Europe, Asia and Africa, and then what?

Then she will thunder at our doors—from Asia she will invade us on the West, from Europe on the East, and from Mexico on the South.

If Germany has control over the terms of peace, we who read this will live to see one of the Kaiser's six sons Emperor of America.

The time to whip Germany is now!

It is now or never!

The Princes of Germany are shaking dice for the United States!

It will take money, money, money, that we may send men, men, men!

Buy Bonds, for so only can the war be won. Unless it is won, everything you possess is lost, and with it the American soul is lost

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 6

ABRAM LEAVING HOME.

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-9.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be thou a blessing.
Genesis 12:2.
DEVOTIONAL READING—Hebrews 11:1-10.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Genesis 11:27-32; Hebrews 11:8-10.

1. Abraham's Call (v. 1).
The new era inaugurated with Noah at its head ended in a colossal failure. In view of such failure God turned aside from the nation as such, and called Abram out from his kindred and land, and placed him at the head of a new nation which he would train for himself. This call involved:

1. A call to separation. He was to leave the place of his fond associations for a land unknown to him. Obedience to this command meant the severance of three ties.

(1) "His country in the widest range of his affections. (2) His place of birth and kindred, which comes closer to his heart. (3) His father's house, as the inmost circle of all tender emotions." All this must be cast off before the Lord could get him into the place of blessing. When kindred and possessions stand in the way of love and service to Christ, one must renounce them (Matthew 10:37).

2. A call to heroic tasks. For Abram to go into a strange land and take possession of it for God called for the heroic in him. It costs much to live the life of separation, but it is the only way to have God's favor. Those who are children of faithful Abram must trust God.

11. God's Promise to Abram (vv. 2-3).

God's demand for separation was followed by a seven-fold promise—a gracious engagement on the part of God to communicate certain unmerited favors and to confer blessings upon him.

1. "I will make of thee a great nation." (v. 2). This in some measure compensated for the loss of his country. He escaped from the degrading influences of his own nation, and became the head of a chosen nation. This was fulfilled in a natural way in the Jewish nation and in Ishmael (Gen. 17:20), also in a spiritual seed embracing both Jews and Gentiles (Galatians 3:7-8).

2. "I will bless thee" (v. 2). This was fulfilled (1) Temporally. (Gen. 13:14-17:24-35). He was enriched with lands and cattle, silver and gold. (2) Spiritually (Gen. 15:6; John 8:56). He was freely justified on the grounds of his faith. The righteousness of Christ was imputed to him.

3. "And make thy name great" (v. 2). He renounced his father's house, and became the head of a new house which would be venerated far and wide. He is known as the friend of God (James 2:23).

4. "Thou shalt be a blessing" (v. 2). It was a great thing to be thus honored and blessed by God, but to be the medium of blessings to others was greater still. It is more blessed to give than to receive.

5. "I will bless them that bless thee" (v. 3). God so identified himself with his servant that he regarded treatment of Abram as treatment of himself. Christ so completely identifies himself with his people that he regards wrong done to them as done to himself. Since he was God's friend, God regarded acts performed toward Abram as performed toward himself. In all ages since then the nations and individuals that have used the Jew well have been blessed.

6. "And curse him that curseth thee" (v. 3). The nations that have been against the Jews have never prospered. While God at different times used the surrounding nations as scourges of Israel, he in turn punished them for their mistreatment of Israel.

7. "In thee shall all families of the earth be blessed" (v. 3). This has been fulfilled (1) In the Jewish nation being made the repository of the Oracles of God. Through them the Bible has been given to the world. (2) The bringing into the world of the Redeemer.

(3) In the future time when the Jews shall be God's missionaries in carrying the good tidings of the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

III. Abram's Obedience (vv. 4-9).
Abram at once departed out of his own land. He proved his faith by his works. He did not argue or parley. Neither did he demand some guarantee, but stepped out upon God's naked word. There were difficulties in his way, but faith in God made him brave. Faith in God gives victory over the world. He worshiped God. To go into a heathen land and establish true worship requires a courageous faith.

Great for Emergencies

San Cura Ointment Should Be in Every Home

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Ed. D. Heckerman to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheuma, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Ed. D. Heckerman's.

BEST SKIN SOAP

Is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Ed. D. Heckerman's.

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand beneficiaries people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Bedford sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Bedford case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 W. Pitt St., says: "I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as represented and gave me prompt relief."

OVER SIX YEARS LATER, Mrs. Davidson said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile since first endorsing them and they have kept me in good health." Foster-Milburn Co., Mgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

There was never a time when the sacrifices and the help of women were more appreciated than at the present time. Women should learn war-nursing and nursing at home. There is no better way than to study the new edition of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser"—with chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, care of the Sick, Diseases of Women, Mother and Babe, the Marriage Relations—to be had at some drug-stores or send 50c. to Publisher, 654 Washington Street, Buffalo, N. If a woman suffers from weak back, nervousness or dizziness—if pains afflict her, the best tonic and corrective is one made up of native herbs and made without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is the prescription of Dr. Pierce, used by him in active practice many years and now sold by almost every druggist in the land, in liquid or in tablets. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c. for trial pkg. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are also best for liver and bowel trouble.

Write, Pa.—"During the time I was bringing up my family I became very delicate and weak. Was miserable all the time until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I found it most beneficial during motherhood, to give me strength. For several years I depended entirely on this medicine to keep me in good health, which it did. I heartily recommend the 'Prescription' to women who become weak and run-down while raising their families."

Uncle Sam Says Save!

Buy Liberty Bonds, and Save!

Buy Thrift Stamps and Save!

Buy War Savings Stamps, and Save!

How many people, "Patriotic to the core," when asked to purchase Liberty Bonds, Thrift Stamps or War Savings Stamps, make the remark, they would like to help but living costs are so high it takes all they can earn to live? There are thousands of them and in almost every case it is not so much the cost of living as the manner in which their incomes are spent that brings about this condition.

These are War Times! with the resulant steady price increase of all commodities. There is no way of knowing what embargoes it may be necessary for the Government to place nor what articles may be affected, hence the wis. householder will provide for the needs of the family as far in the future as his resources will ailow. But in order to save he must go about it intelligently, make up a budget of what will be needed, then go over each item carefully, pruning here on luxuries that are expensive, adding there on staples that are necessary.

Do this and you will be surprised at the amount of money you will be able to invest in Liberty Bonds, War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

Your District Merchant Can Help You

He has foreseen conditions and with the idea of safeguarding his patrons interests, has bought heavily in all the staple lines, thus you are sure to find in your district stores the merchandise you need at prices you can afford to pay.

Every dollar you spend in your district is credit to your district's contributions towards "winning the war," and enables your district merchants to invest more liberally in Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps, Red Cross and other patrotic campaigns. Every dollar you send outside of the district is a corrsponding help to the district to which it is sent. It is your patriotic duty to buy everything you need and use in your district. The following merchants, members of the Altoona Booster Association, are pledged to assist you in every possible way in your efforts to save. And remember, when you save you serve, even though you are not in a front line trench.
